

CRI International Tax

Are you considering expanding internationally or acquiring a new company with international operations? Or are you working to maintain and expand your existing international endeavors? Then your organization will benefit from CRI's comprehensive international tax planning approach.

Our team provides both inbound and outbound tax planning and compliance services, as well as international tax consulting services, to mid-sized businesses. CRI understands the intricate details involved from selecting the proper business entity through planning transfer pricing, and we are able to help your business make the best choices that will positively impact your global tax rates. With proper preparation based on your specific needs, we can develop short-term and long-term goals to help your business succeed in the global marketplace.

CRI is a member of both Moore Stephens North America (MSNA) association of member firms and Moore Stephens International Limited (MSIL) network of member firms. With member firms in most major cities and low tax jurisdictions, CRI connects with professionals worldwide who can provide additional assistance with comprehensive international tax planning and compliance services.
